Cover photo: Looking west on Las Olas Boulevard toward the Sweet Building, downtown Fort Lauderdale, 1935. The city's only "skyscraper," the Sweet Building housed Broward County's circuit court under Judge Vincent C. Giblin on two occasions in the 1920s — while the 1928 courthouse was under construction and following Giblin's defeat by George Tedder. An article on Giblin's life and legal career begins on page two of this issue of Broward Legacy.
