YOU CAN HELP SAVE BROWARD'S HISTORY

Many important sources of local history (photos, letters, scrapbooks, brochures, diaries, business records, and more) lie hidden in attics, closets, shelves, and storage boxes.

The Broward County Historical Commission is attempting to acquire as many of these valuable materials as possible for our expanding archives of Broward County History. Here, they can be preserved and made available to researchers.

If you have any materials relating to Broward's past sitting unused, in your home or place of business, please consider donating them to the Broward County Historical Commission.

If you have items of historical interest that you would like to keep, the Historical Commission would be happy to borrow, copy, and return them.

Call 765-5872, or
Visit the Historical Commission office at:

100-B South New River Drive East
Fort Lauderdale, Florida