

There's a good deal more to enjoying the good life than many people imagine.

For some of us, the good life means sharing —our time, our talents, whatever it takes to solve problems. Like making sure there's enough food to feed a hungry world. Enough thick forests to help house it. Enough care to rid it of pollution and disease. And enough time left to enjoy it.

At Dow, we're dedicated to these and other vital pursuits. Because we know life is fragile and needs protection.

It is largely because of this concern that many recent graduates with scientific, engineering, manufacturing and marketing backgrounds have chosen a career with Dow. They've found a life of growth without constraint. Of achievement based on their own ability and good judgment.

If you know of students who are looking for a career with enough meaning for their talent and enthusiasm, put them in touch with us. Recruiting and College Relations, P.O. Box 1713-CE, Midland, Michigan 48640.

Dow is an equal opportunity employer—male/female.
