

From the Editor

The Florida Geographer is the official publication of The Florida Society of Geographers, and is distributed without cost to members of the Society. Two numbers per year will be published, pending receipt of an adequate number of acceptable manuscripts.

The Florida Geographer is a state-wide journal, with broad coverage of geographical topics relating to the state and its several regions. No restrictions are placed on the content of articles, providing that they deal with some aspect of the geography of Florida, i.e., local studies within the state, matters of the state generally, or the relation of Florida to other areas.

Manuscripts are solicited from all who feel they have research worth of dissemination. No specific format requirements are presently in force, although the editor would prefer manuscripts to be typed double-spaced following the general format of the articles in the present number. However, authors should not be dissuaded from submitting manuscripts because of format considerations; the editor is willing to undertake extensive revisions. As this number demonstrates, we are able to reproduce maps, charts, and tables.

We would like to establish a policy of publishing an original map on the cover of each number, so a special request is made to all who have maps of the state or regions of the state which would be of interest to the Society's membership.

The editor is gratified at the response to his solicitation for manuscripts sent out in the spring. More manuscripts are needed, however. So students, faculty, and others with research interests, please consider The Florida Geographer as an outlet for your research.
