

" Art to Jon is like music to a rock star... and as the old saying goes you can't keep a good man down. All I can say is J.D. Elliott must be a really good man. Instead of giving up his life's calling he took the more challenging avenue, made the adjustment, and now paints and produces with his right hand. Whether you are an art enthusiast or not, his story is a testament to the resiliency and perseverance of the human spirit."

- Rennie Abrams-Reynolds, high school friend of Jon
